

Financial Information

Item	Due Date	Amount
Non-refundable Deposit	May 31, 2010	$ 750.00
Balance	July 6, 2010	$ 2,100.00
Total Cost* per Student		$2,850.00

Total cost includes English instruction, school supplies, ground transportation, food and lodging, and entrance fees to all excursions such as amusement parks and museums. Costs do not include air ticket, tourist visa, medical insurance, and personal purchases. All students must provide proof of medical insurance.

Accommodations

Students will stay with English-speaking host families. The host family will provide total care of your child for the month. Each home is carefully selected and is a Christian home with a loving atmosphere. Many host families will have children who attend Acaciawood School during the regular school year. Evening and Sunday activities are left to the host family to arrange and will vary according to each family's schedule.

Admission

Students who apply must be willing to work hard and build up their character while improving their English. Students must agree to sign an ethics contract during registration requiring them to respect their teachers and peers, display an obedient, positive learning attitude at all times, etc. Students who have had behavior problems in school will not be admitted. All students are required to provide a person's name other than a relative who can serve as a character reference.

About Us

Since 1996, Acaciawood School, a unique college preparatory academy has utilized a demanding academic curriculum designed to establish higher order thinking skills in the humanities and sciences to develop persons of strong character. Nearly 58% of it's graduates attend the full time training.

Our motto, "Strong in Character, High in Standard," best expresses the philosophy of Acaciawood School. We believe that strong character is the foundation for all lasting human success and accomplishments. Our ESL camps build on this philosophy to teach English to foreign students. The program emphasizes language acquisition for verbal communication rather than merely improving reading and writing skills.

Note: The Summer camp is the first time away from home for many children. Some of them may be homesick during the first few days of camp and fatigued from the trip, but we have found that they grow and develop strength through these challenges. We provide them a nurturing environment to grow and develop into stronger, independent learners. Many parents have told us how profitable and positive this experience has been for their children and how happy they are that they encouraged their children to overcome adversity and persevere.
